A MURDER
EXPIATEDAnother Execution in the Oahu Prison Yard.

Frank Johnson, as he was known in the community and to the law, was duly and decorously executed at Oahu Prison yesterday morning for murder. William Henry, High Sheriff of the Territory, superintended the execution. His most painful duty, personally, was the reading of the death warrant to the condemned man before the latter was brought out to the scaffold.

Kealakai, an experienced prison guard who had officiated on many previous occasions of the same kind and never blundered, attended to the last mechanical details. Johnson's passage from consciousness must have been instantaneous, for there was not a muscular tremor noticed after the drop, and only the short period of twelve and a half minutes elapsed before Dr. W. L. Moore, the prison physician, declared him dead. In the official examination of the suspended body Dr. Moore was assisted by Dr. Rorkenbach of the German training ship Herzogin Sophie Charlotte. Drs. Hoffmann, Oyama and Nimura were also present.

Statements were voluntarily made by Johnson in his last days and hours of a nature calculated to still any misgivings on the part of the jury that convicted him regarding the justness of his fate under the law. A few days ago he sent for Mrs. Kentwell, whose family once employed him, and at first denied to her that he was guilty but he soon broke down, weeping, and told her that he killed the Wharton child and that his doom was just. He gave his watch and other small belongings to Mrs. Kentwell.

Johnson slept well on Wednesday night until 2 o'clock in the morning, when he awoke and called for his pipe and did not go to sleep again. At five o'clock he asked for whisky, a drink of which was given to him. He ate a light breakfast at 6 o'clock. After he awoke he talked for some time with High Sheriff Henry. He told him that his true name was John O'Connell and that he had a married sister and three brothers in Ireland. He had shipped on a vessel named the Frank Johnson and deserting from it here adopted his name as his own. Being unable to read or write he had never kept the run should know. The troubles with multitudes of girls is a want of proper nourishment and enough of it. Now-a-days they call this condition by the learned name of Anemia. But words change no facts. There are thousands of girls of this kind anywhere between childhood and young ladyhood. Disease finds most of its victims among them. Some of them are passing through the mysterious changes which lead up to maturity and need especial watchfulness and care. Alas, how many break down at this critical period; the story of such losses is the saddest in the history of home. The proper treatment might have saved most of these household treasures, if the mothers had only known of WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION and given it to their daughters, they would have grown to be strong and healthy women. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In building up pale, puny, emaciated children, particularly those troubled with Anemia, Scrofula, Rickets, and Bone and Blood diseases, nothing equals it; its tonic qualities are of the highest order. A Medical Institution says: "We have used your preparation in treating children for coughs, colds and inflammation; its application has never failed us in any case, even the most aggravated bordering on pneumonia." The more it is used the less will be the ravages of disease from infancy to old age. It is both a food and a medicine, modern, scientific, effective from the first dose, and never deceives or disappoints. "There is no doubt about it." Sold by all chemists here and throughout the world.

ANCIEN
ORDER HIBERNIANS,
DIVISION NO. 1.

of his age. The High Sheriff placed his years as at least forty.

A few minutes before eight o'clock Father Clement spent a few minutes with the condemned man. High Sheriff Henry had compared his watch with other timepieces. A distant clock was heard from the prison office striking eight and a moment later the High Sheriff called upon the press representatives to attend his party at Johnson's cell. Then there was a loud clangor from the prison bell as the company descended the steps to the basement corridor.

Johnson leaned his weight upon his left arm, grasping the edge of the door frame with that hand, while the High Sheriff in a voice tremulous with emotion read the death warrant to him. Dressed in a new black suit over a striped shirt, with a black necktie and highly polished shoes, Johnson held a print calico handkerchief in his right hand. His features had become considerably bleached since his trial and his demeanor was solemn almost to the tragic, as if he fully realized that his last moments of earthly existence had arrived. As the reading came to the command that the High Sheriff "laying aside all excuses," execute the court's sentence between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. on May 31, Johnson glanced appealingly upward as if in mute prayer.

Immediately the reading was concluded High Sheriff Henry threw open the door of the cell and officers entered and pinioned Johnson's arms with straps. Then he was conducted at a smart pace up the steps and over the sloping gangway to the scaffold outside. He walked firmly without support. Arrived upon the scaffold his legs were strapped together and Father Clement repeated three sentences of a prayer, to which Johnson strongly nodded assent at each pause. Then the black cap and the noose were quickly adjusted, and at about seven minutes after eight o'clock the trap was sprung. The crime for which Johnson was executed was the killing of Simon Wharton, the seven-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wharton, at Wai-alea on January 3 last. He shockingly mutilated the body of the little victim and buried it at the edge of a cane-field. On his trial before Judge Robinson his counsel assigned by court, T. M. Harrison, produced the defense of insanity but it was not accepted by the jury. Much horror having been caused by the peculiar atrocity of the murder the government was very earnest in the prosecution, both Attorney General Peters and Deputy Attorney General Prosser appearing throughout for the Territory.

DAUGHTER A HEROINE

Captain Lawless of the steamer Mariposa brings news from Tahiti that Lovina Chapman has been presented by the French Government with a suitably inscribed medal in recognition of her heroism in saving the life of Mrs. Williams in the harbor of Papeete during the hurricane and tidal wave that occurred there last February. Lovina Chapman is the daughter of Captain Ben Chapman, who for years was a prominent figure in Tahiti and as long ago as 1860 was in command of a brig plying from San Francisco to Tahiti.

In the height of the hurricane Miss Chapman, who is an expert and fearless swimmer, plunged into the breakers and succeeded in saving Mrs. Williams, who had fallen into the bay. Surrounded by wreckage and in the greatest peril, Miss Chapman kept afloat with her unconscious charge for nearly an hour before being picked up. Her deed was one of the most remarkable during the hurricane. Her popularity, which was widespread before, was enhanced by her courageous act, and she is generally regarded in the South Seas as a heroine.

Capt. Chapman is now a resident of Honolulu, having come here from Tahiti about four years ago.

DAMAGES FOR A LIFE.
Before Judge Lindsay yesterday the trial began of the suit of Omoto Bunnichi vs. Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co. for $15,000 damages on account of the death of the nine-year old son of complainant, by being run over by a car on June 1, 1905, at Pawaa junction. The following jury is trying the case:

Richard Weedon, Wm. Buckle, B. Courtney, Edward C. Brown, Jas. Nott, Sol. Koki, A. M. Meilis, Water C. Gilman, W. J. Smithies, Chas. Lucas, J. H. Nishwitz and F. P. McIntyre. C. G. Balleentyne, superintendent of defendant company, was the first witness called by E. C. Peters, attorney for plaintiff, and the only one examined yesterday. D. L. Withington appears for defendant.

JUDGMENT FOR LEVY.
Judge Robinson yesterday gave judgment in the suit of B. Johnson vs. A. P. McDonald et al., to the effect that plaintiff take nothing by the action as against the defendant J. M. Levy, doing business under the name of J. M. Levy & Co., and that he recover judgment in assumption against defendants McDonald & Langston in their individual capacities and as partners for the amount sued for, costs, etc. The debt claimed is about $330. Middlemitch for plaintiff; Thompson & Clemons for defendants.

COURT ITEMS.
The partners in the firm of Sing Lee Sang have brought an injunction suit against Joseph Kind Olo to enjoin him and his representatives from impeding the complainants in the use of the water of a certain ancient ditch. Geo. D. Gear is their attorney.
Judgment was ordered by Judge Lindsay, for plaintiff, on confession of defendant, in the case of R. Puuki vs. J. F. Kaehu. It was an appeal by defendant from judgment for plaintiff for $61.73 by District Magistrate Lyle A. Dickey on January 19, 1903.
Wm. Henry, High Sheriff, has brought a writ of error in the Supreme Court to review a judgment against him and in favor of Chun Hoon by Judge De Bolt.

Smith & Lewis and L. J. Warren have filed a motion to dismiss the writ of error brought by plaintiffs in the suit of Eiliza Roy, J. D. Paris, J. D. Johnson, W. H. Johnson and W. H. Shipman vs. M. P. Scott. Want of prosecution and previous adjudication are the grounds.
A decree of the Supreme Court has been filed, dismissing the complaint in the suit of Kaukau Kahula et al. vs. Sam'l Kanawanui, administrator of the estate of Isaac H. Kahilina in the Fifth Circuit Court.

BIGAMY JURY OUT.
Early yesterday afternoon, in the Federal court, the jury trying Dai Fook Tai, a Chinese woman, for bigamy retired to consider their verdict. At evening they had not agreed and Judge Dole gave them in charge of Marshal Hendry, with instructions if they found a verdict during the night to deliver it sealed to the Marshal.

Avon A. Crook has filed a motion for a new trial of Kaliko Kaawaloa, convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of Virginia Moeulhi.
